Website Update: Microsoft Issue

We want to share a quick update regarding a recent website issue related to Microsoft settings.

While all configurations on our end were correct, this was identified as a Microsoft-side issue, which required additional troubleshooting. We've since been informed that a solution is ready, and the IT team is coordinating the best time to implement the update to ensure everything works properly before we give the final all-clear.

We'll continue to keep you informed and share confirmation once the update has been successfully completed.

In solidarity,
Federal Education Association
