Hi Member,

In This Issue:

- New Features on the FEA Website
- Reminder for Members: Update Your Email Information

New Features on the FEA Website

We're excited to share two new additions to the FEA website that make it easier for members to access important publications and archived resources.

Members can now browse past Europe publications, including previous Europe newsletters and annual Unity publications, here:

<https://feaonline.org/our-publications/europe-unity>

We have also added a dedicated page for FEA Retired newsletters, which can now be accessed here:

<https://feaonline.org/member-resources/retirement-support/fea-retired-newsletter>

We encourage members to explore these new resources and stay connected with FEA news, history, and retiree updates.

Reminder: Goodbye Grievances

As many Stateside schools begin closing for the summer, with Europe and Pacific schools soon to follow, this is a good time for members to confirm that FEA has an up-to-date personal email address on file.

If you have changed email addresses since joining FEA, or if your account is connected to an older email you can no longer access, please reach out to Hellem for assistance updating your information. Keeping your email current helps ensure you continue receiving important FEA updates, election information, member communications, and benefits information over the summer and beyond.

Members needing assistance updating their information can either follow the tutorial on FEA's website here: <https://feaonline.org/how-update-your-contact-information>, or contact FEA Director of Membership Processing, Hellem Hernandez, at FEAMembership@nea.org for assistance.

In solidarity,
Federal Education Association
